

Index to Chinese Studies in History, Vol. 24
(Fall 1990–Summer 1991)

Fall–Winter 1990–91/Vol. 24, Nos. 1–2

Li Hung-chang
Diplomat and Modernizer
(Parts I–II)

Guest Editors:

Samuel C. Chu                      Kwang-Ching Liu
Ohio State University      University of California, Davis

Foreword and Acknowledgments

Contributors

Introduction: The Beginnings of China's Modernization
Kwang-Ching Liu

Part I: The Rise of Li Hung-chang

1. The Confucian as Patriot and Pragmatist: Li's Formative Years, 1823–1866

Kwang-Ching Liu

2. Li in Chihli: The Emergence of a Policy, 1870–1875

Kwang-Ching Liu

Part II: Li in the Role of a National Official

3. Li and Shen Pao-chen: The Politics of Modernization

David P. T. Pong

4. The Shanghai-Tientsin Connection: Li's Political Control over Shanghai

Yuen-sang Leung

Spring 1991/Vol. 24, No. 3

A Guide to Material on the Chinese Communist Movement:
Zhang Zhuhong's *Historiography of China's Modern Revolutionary History

Guest Editors:

Timothy Cheek      Tony Saich
The Colorado College      Leiden University

Editors' Introduction

Timothy Cheek and Tony Saich

Historical Research and Documentary Material on the First
Revolutionary Civil War

Historical Research and Documentary Material on the Second
Revolutionary Civil War

Summer 1991/Vol. 24, No. 4

Li Hung-chang
Diplomat and Modernizer
(Part III)

Guest Editors:

Samuel C. Chu      Kwang-Ching Liu
Ohio State University      University of California, Davis

Foreword and Acknowledgments

Contributors

Introduction: The Beginnings of China's Modernization

Kwang-Ching Liu

Part III: Li as Diplomat

5. The Aims of Li's Policies toward Japan and Korea, 1870-1882

Key-Hiuk Kim

6. Li and the Liu-ch'iu (Ryūkyū) Controversy, 1871-1881

Edwin Pak-wah Leung

7. Li's Suzerain Policy toward Korea, 1882-1894

Ming-te Lin

